railways, 209 per cent. to know losses other than railways, and 40 per cent. to unknown causes. The total damage done is estimated at $24,256. Of this, the railways are charged with only 112 per cent, while 242 per cent. of the damage is due to known causes other than railways, and 646 per cent. to unknown causes. That the railways have been having financial troubles, are directly charged with less than half of the total number of fires reported as having originated within the track, these burned for less than one-third of the total reported, and did only one-third of the total estimated damage. This showing is distinctly favorable to the railways, especially when it is considered that this 10 per cent. of damage totals less than $5,000. These figures show that the railways have been remarkably efficient in extinguishing their own fires, as well as those due to outside causes. Of all fires reported, the causes are as follows: Accidents, 839

BUY AN IRRIGATED FARM FROM THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

BECAUSE—

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and insures good crops, not occasionally, but EVERY YEAR.

Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of feeders, which insures best returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement, with unity.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $5 to $15 per acre, with twenty years (6 per cent interest) in principal payment at the end of first year and the privilege of a loan of $200 for improvement of second year and no water rental for first year. Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved instances.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land on record. Get full particulars from

A VARIETY OF SUITS FOR THE LITTLE FELLOW

A Modified Sailor Suit

Patterned After Mother's Smock

Blanket Stitching is an Effective Trimming

In Real Shirtwaist Style

Even the Dog Takes to Stripes

MOTHERS of little boys are frequently puzzled regarding the proper clothing to select for them. They realize that they must keep away from anything that savors of femininity, and yet they dislike to select styles that are so severe that they rob a child of his youthful appearance. A great variety of suits is here offered for boys ranging from three to five years of age. The styles are sensible and are full of individuality. After seeing them, no mother should remain in doubt.

Blanket stitching, that form of embroidery so popular for embellishing various articles of dress, is effectively used to finish the front line of closing and the armholes of the blue suit. It is queer what little touches are required to give a suit an individual note. On this particular suit the graduated tabs at the top and the lone one at the bottom make the jacket stand out from the rest. White collars and cuffs, neatly hemstitched, give a finishing touch to the suit.

Stripes have long been in favor with women, and they have proved serviceable for boys' playtime clothes. A very clean looking suit is that one made of green and white striped percale. The suit consists of a loose hanging blouse and trousers that close on the side.

Patterned after mother's smock is the jacket of the white suit. It would prove dear to any little boy's heart for the pockets alone, if for no other reason. These capacious affairs are made conspicuous by the addition of smocking done in yellow to match the shallow collar of yellow pongee. Blanket stitching and a few French knots outline the yoke. The knickerbockers and the jacket are of white pongee. White pique has been used for the comfortable cap.

In real shirtwaist style is the suit consisting of trousers of linen and a blouse of white linen. The blouse has hemstitching and narrow ruffles of the material. The tiny tie repeats the color of the trousers and gives the whole costume a real mannish air.

A sailor suit, especially if it is made a little bit different from the regulation type, is always becoming to the little lad of three or four. The green suit having a double-breasted blouse is softened by the introduction of white collar and belt. As a rule, hand embroidery is not suitable for a boy, but here a wise use of the handwork has been made on the corners of the collar. The black tie twisted into a sailor knot and the white-bound pocket in the blouse are points which are sure to make the suit attractive to any masculine child.

While these suits are made of wash materials, any one of them could be duplicated in serge or one of the fashionable mixtures. As a rule, however, the washable clothes for small folks prove more satisfactory in the long run.

The War Loan

The great essential need in this third year of the campaign is to supply the sinews of war. In this Canadians may aid materially by applying their surplus savings—savings not made from surplus revenue, but savings effected by abstaining from needless expenditure on non-essentials—in taking up the war loan stock. The Finance Minister, Sir Thomas White, is making a call on Canadian patriotism by the issue of a war loan of large proportions. There are few in Canada who do not yearn for some opportunity of helping to smother the enemy. It is not given to every one to do this on the field of battle. But by the husbanding of all our national resources, by a rigid policy of thrift, Governments and people may do much to ease the burden of war in the days to come by applying available savings to investments of this character. In this way, if no other, Canadians may feel the conscious pride that comes to every man who is "doing his bit" in this war.

To the Auction Mart Shareholders

We wish to draw your attention to the advertisement in another column of this paper of the sale of 40, one and two year old Clyde and Percheron bred colts to be sold at the monthly auction on Sept. 30th. These are all of good conformation and well bred and will be sold with out reserve and time will be given on them so this is a splendid chance for the farmers of the district to get hold of some good stock at reasonable terms. Such a sale is sure to bring a good crowd so get your entries in right away and take advantage of the special advertising that will be given the sale. There is a good demand for better colts, cows and horses and now that no commission is charged on stock that is not sold you have nothing to lose by entering and bringing your stock to the auction. Help your directors by entering your goods early in the month, then the sales are bound to be a success.

Faithfully yours,
Strathmore Auction Co., Ltd.
T. GATENBY, President

Things We Hear

That the Town Council are thinking of purchasing a flock of sheep to feed off the weeds around town.

That someone stole a switch-knife out of a car on Main St. last Saturday evening.

That if the owner of the car met the spirit there will be "a hot time in the old town that night."

That a trader was received at the council meeting the other night of ferreting to paint the south, west and east sides of the park fence posts.

That a new lock is required on the pound gate.

Bottle of Liquor Gets Local Men Into Court

SAID TO HAVE HAD ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE ON THEIR TABLE IN RESTAURANT.

Four men, three of them from Strathmore, lined the Calgary police court rail on Friday morning when their names were called on charges of breaking the prohibition act.

The men, William B. Code, Strathmore; Albert A. Simpson, Calgary; John W. Wilson, Strathmore; and A. P. Birmingham, of Strathmore, pleaded not guilty to the charge on advice of their counsel, Frank Eaton. In order that the defence might prepare for an adjournment was granted until Saturday morning.

The men were allowed out on bail in the meantime. The Calgary men men got on $100 bail, but the Strathmore men got on $100 each. The total bail amounted to $400.

It was charged in the information that the men, not being entitled to have liquor, unlawfully were in possession of liquor on the premises of Criss's cafe on Ninth Avenue. They were gathered in by Sergeant Davidson. They had a bottle of the table with it is claimed.

The case was brought forward on Saturday and resulted in two dismissals, one line and one recommended. Frank Eaton, for the defence pleaded poverty for the accused, and so worked on the sympathies and the legal acumen of the magistrates that two men were dismissed, while one was held over for further investigation.

One man, W. B. Code, was fined $20 and costs. Mr. Code, protested vigorously that he had not taken a drink since the Liquor Act went into force. He knew the exact date of his last drink, June 28th. Anyway, he said, he did not take any more.

He returned to recognize the bottle of eye produced as incriminating evidence by Const. Davidson. He said he had never met it, had indeed never been introduced to it, but the magistrate saw differently, to the extent of $100 and costs.

URGES A COMMISSION

New Toronto Board of Trade President Would Administer Tariff

At its annual meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade, the retiring President, Mr. J. W. Woods, head of the Gordon, Mackay Company, reviewed the general business conditions prevailing in Canada, and made a forecast of the future. An important feature of the address was his reference to the tariff. With it he pointed out the value in Canada of the largest wholesale and importing houses in Canada which has been a free trader in his sympathies, special significance is attached to his remarks.

Favoring Existing Policy
"Wholesalers and importers and agents for foreign manufactured products generally, whatever their sympathies may be in the matter of free trade, have come to the conclusion that the system under which Canada has been working for almost a century, and are unanimous in the belief that the years immediately following the war, Canada's revenue necessities will be such as to justify any serious reduction being made in the tariff. President Woods pointed in favor of the existing policy, only such modification as scientific study would make advisable, and his advocacy of a well-administered tariff, will commend themselves to all thoughtful citizens. Duties on imported goods cannot be wiped out or materially reduced without a disruption of the existing system of taxation, and those who advocate radical changes of this nature must remember that all parts of the country and all sections of the people must be considered."

Tariff
There is a difference of opinion among our members as to the extent the Government is justified in shifting responsibility by appointment of special commissions. I am sure in certain directions, government by commission is the one and only way of getting permanence and stability, and a tariff commission similar to the Dominion Railway Commission should, I believe, be appointed at an early date. The tariff should be taken out of politics—a scientific tariff, worked out by experts, should be put in force as soon after the cessation of hostilities as possible. The Government must have revenue. The farmer and the laborer also must be considered and the manufacturer is entitled to protection. Here is work for a strong commission.

War is creating conditions new to all of us, but we do know this, that since war exists, many of our factories will be upset and a period of readjustment will arrive which will try the mettle of the nation.

WHAT EUROPE WILL DO

An Invasion by Foreign Goods After the War is Foreseen

Industrial conditions in Canada at present are obscure. They exist only in measure. Great Britain has more than her factories can accomplish, and because the great factories of Britain and Northern France are in the hands of the enemy, in return for her output of war supplies Canada gets so many millions dollars from Great Britain and our allies. Europe has to get back that gold somewhere, and when the vast armies engaged in the war are disbanded European factories now out of commission will absorb a great number of men. These former soldiers will be put to work manufacturing goods for export, and these goods under ordinary conditions will be shipped to Canada at prices lower than which Canadian manufacturers, paying the Canadian standard of wages, cannot hope to compete.

Strictly it needs no genius to see that without reasonable protection against the cheap and low standards of living of our foreign competitors, the industries of Canada must starve and without industry agricultural nature cannot prosper. If Canada continues to import what she could make at home, increasing unemployment and poverty will be the result. Canada will suffer more than any country simply on account of her lack of an industrial base.

The safety and interest of Canada requires that Canadian as a people must produce such industries as will render us independent of other nations for our essential supplies. When the war is over, and the work of reconstruction begins, if we are to still remain this forthright and self-reliant people, we have to be prepared to have our foreign goods will again pour into Canada, ready to take away the demand for home made.
